DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claims 1-7 and 10 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Fujimori et al. (U.S. 6,850,298).

As to claim 1, note the color filter substrate shown in figure 11G. Note the substrate 40, light-blocking member BM, color filter 42, and transparent layers 44a1 and 44a2 comprising the passivation layer. See column 16, lines 4-45. A first portion of the color filter overlaps the light-blocking member.

As to claim 2, figures 11A to 11G describe a method of forming the color filter substrate of the liquid crystal device 400 shown in figures 9A, 9B and 10. Note in figure 10, the transmission region T (first display area) that displays images using a provided light source and a reflection region R (second display area) that displays images using an external light source (ambient light).

As to claim 3, Fujimori discloses that the color filter layer 42 includes an opening 42' formed in a portion of the reflection region R (second display area). As shown in figure 11G, this causes the transparent layers 44a1 and 44a2 (passivation layer) to be thicker in the reflection region R (second display area) than in the transmission region T (first display area).

As to claim 4, figure 10 shows the transparent layers 44a1 and 44a2 (passivation layer) having zero thickness in the transmission region T (first display area).

As to claim 5, because of the openings 42' formed in the color filter 42 in the reflection region R (second display area), the thickness of the color filter in the transmission region T (first display area) is larger than the thickness in the reflection region R (second display area).

As to claim 6, the color filter 42 shown in figure 11G includes a second portion corresponding to the opening 42' (zero thickness) that is thinner than the third portion formed directly adjacent the second portion.

As to claim 7, the light-blocking member BM in figure 11G is located near the edge of the color filter.

As to claim 10, note the common electrode 46 in figures 10 and 11G.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 8 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art of record did not teach the first portion of the color filter overlapping the black matrix being thinner than the second portion, and the second portion being thinner than the third portion. In the device of Fujimori, the first portion of the color filter in figure 11G overlapping the black matrix is thicker than the portion corresponding to the opening 42' (instead of being the thinnest portion).

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
